The Lyric Quartet.

The Concordia Lyric Quartet, composed of students of the Lutheran Seminaries at St. Louis, Mo., and Springfield, Ill., are on tour, on their way to their homes in the West.

The troupe is under the direction of Mr F Gabert, accompanist and manager; the personnel of the quartet being: A Gehring, 1st tenor; V Hergesheimer, 2d tenor; L Liske, 1st bass; K Kraehembil, 2d bass.

They are making numerous stops on their way across the country, and are due in Edmonton July 30th, and make their appearance in Stony the day following, July 31.

Prepare to Shed a Tear.

Another item in the unemployment situation not to be overlooked is the fact that a large number of Normalites has been released from the three schools in the province. As an exchange puts it: "Lo the poor school teacher! 700 brand new teachers on the market this season and no new schools for them and many of the old ones closed. Have pity on them!"

Edmonton Ex. July 18.

Western stockmen will be more interested than ever in the prize list of the Edmonton Ex., as there is a possibility that more of the money will be retained by stock representing the West than in previous years.

Entries for the Fair close July 2. The date of Exhibition is July. The attendance at the Ex. will, no doubt, be stimulated by the sale of tickets at the very low price of 5 for $1. The tickets are on sale in Stony at the Royal Cafe.

Duffield Picnic on Saturday.

As the time approaches for the holding of this picnic, the affair looms up as an extra big affair. In addition to the School competition and a large list of other sports, a boxing tournament has now been added, to take place at four o'clock.

Two knights of the leather who have never met as yet main event, a six round "go." One of these two is the well-known boxer Harry Mitchell; the other being a newcomer, Bill Maelhoff.

Those billed for the preliminaries are: Roy Burnett, a fighter of noted ability from across the River; "Sluggo" Gaschnitz, a Drumbeller miner; A Moldenhauer, Duffield; and a gent from Bashaw by the name of N. Ray.

There is to be no extra charge for admission to the boxing, which promises to be a bang-up affair. Given suitable weather on Saturday, the Duffield picnic will, no doubt, be a record breaker. The ball game will be between Duffield and Stony Plain All Stars.

The Imperial Economic Conference

The Imperial Economic Conference, shortly to be convened at Ottawa, is unquestionably one of the most important gatherings ever called in the history of the British Empire. In fact, it may easily prove to be one of the most important in the economic history of the whole world, because, whatever decisions it may reach will affect not only the British Commonwealth of Nations, but all nations.

There will be assembled together all the leading governing statesmen of the Empire, supported by the strongest possible groups of financial, economic, commercial and other experts that the Old Country and each of the Dominions can gather together. For months past, these statesmen and experts, assisted by small armies of lesser experts and advisers, have been compiling and studying trade and monetary statistics, weighing the effect of this and that, probing as never before into the productive capacities, primary and industrial, of their countries, the natural resources, the state of employment, the requirements of their respective populations, the probable and possible future of future developments and the effect of the effect of existing policies and possible future policies upon all these matters which enter into national and Empire growth, prosperity and strength.

And the object of it all is to evolve, if possible, new policies acceptable to all parts of the Empire, and which will prove of mutual advantage to all, and having as their objective the encouragement and development of a larger volume of inter-Empire trade. This means that the possibilities and the requirements of each part of the Empire must be ascertained, and the effect of existing policies and possible future policies upon all these matters which enter into national and Empire growth, prosperity and strength.

It comes at once self-evident, therefore, that one of the major tasks confronting the Conference will be to find ways and means of removing existing barriers to the free exchange of commodities between one part of the Empire and other parts, to the mutual advantage of both, and without, in the process, working injury to any part. While the Old Country representatives, and the representatives of each of the Dominions must, of necessity, give particular heed to the interests of their respective nations, it is an essential to the success of the Conference that this be done in no narrow, selfish spirit, but in such a way that while benefitting their own country they likewise confer benefits on the sister nations.

This does not mean that the spirit of approach to the intricate problems calling for solution should be one of making sacrifices; rather it should be in the direction of striving for mutual advantages. In fact the word "sacrifice" should be entirely absent from the Conference, while the term "mutual advantage" should be very much to the fore. In a word, the dominating idea should not be that expressed in such slogans as "British First," "Canada First," "Australia First," but, on the contrary, it should be an adaptation of the motto of the Three Musketeers, "All for One, and One for All."

Along with the removal of existing barriers, and a mutual understanding or agreement that no new barriers will be erected, there must naturally develop policies designed to make ever easier the flow of trade into and out of all parts of the Empire to all other parts. This may involve the ultimate creation of a new system or method of monetary exchange, even a new currency. It would seem to be essential that some system be developed whereby the currency of any one part of the Empire should always be on a par with the currency of all other parts; in a word, that the same monetary standard should apply at all times throughout the Empire, and that, for example, at no time should the Canadian dollar be at a discount with the British pound, or vice versa. The guarantee of such a standard would undoubtedly be of tremendous assistance in establishing and maintaining inter-Empire trade at a maximum, removing, as it would, much of the uncertainty and loss which now prevails.

If the forthcoming Conference can achieve a measure of success along these and other lines having the same general object in view the beneficial effect upon all parts of the British Empire will be almost incalculable. Not only so, but no other trading nations could afford to ignore such a development. The breaking down of trade barriers within the Empire would quickly force the breaking down of trade barriers by all other nations. It would be the beginning of a reversal of the suicidal policy into which the world has drifted and which has resulted in an almost complete paralysis, or destruction, of international trade and commerce, ending in the present state of world depression, unemployment, suffering and hardship.

Canadians may well be proud if, from their national capital, there is evolved a new economic policy for their Empire and the world. That this should emerge from the Conference should be, and we believe is, the fervent desire and hope of the Canadian people irrespective of any minor political differences of adherence to special schools of economic or fiscal thought.

Buy Locally

Keep in mind the fact that when you are in need of anything it pays to get it from your local merchant. If your purchase should for any reason prove unsatisfactory you know where you will find him to get the mistake rectified. The door-to-door salesman is here today and gone tomorrow, and has no store in the municipality. Why patronize him.

Seasoned Advice

Dr. A. Gauducheau, of Paris, makes use of a principle of physiology and injects sauces and seasonings directly into the blood streams of chickens. He says this aids the flavoring in penetrating the meat and none is necessary on cooking the fowl.

Pains In Stomach and Bowels So Bad Would Have To Sit Down

Mrs. C. Lashley, Moncton, N.B., writes: "I can certainly recommend Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for cramps or pains in the stomach and bowels."

"Last Summer I had such awful pains in my stomach, and lower part of my bowels, at times, I would have to sit down. I took Dr. Fowler's, and was soon relieved."

"When my children were small I always kept a bottle in the house and it helped them wonderfully whenever any of them had bowel complaints."

Earth Upheaval

Contour Of Island In Bering Sea Is Changed

An isolated Bering sea island, populated only by a herd of immense sea lions and great flocks of birds, Bogobol, has given Father Bernard R. Hubbard what he declares to be proof of how volcanic islands "grow."

A great steaming mound of lava, he said in a message sent to Seward, has been pushed out of the earth and has changed the contour of one section of the island completely. The mass is apparently increasing in size. The "growth" is taking place, the Santa Clara University professor messaged, at a place where formerly a sheltered harbor existed.

His observations were made on a voyage from Bristol Bay with his party on the motorship "Polar Bear." Despite storms and high seas, a successful landing was made.

Death Of Pioneer

Col Herbert Swinford, Veteran Of Red River Rebellion, Dies In Winnipeg

Col. Herbert Swinford, veteran of the Red River Rebellion of 1870, and the North West Rebellion 15 years later, died recently in Winnipeg at the age of 83.

Born at London, England, he came to Canada with his parents as a boy and jumped into uniform with the Wellington Rifles at Guelph, Ont., when Lord Wolseley was forming his expedition.

Following service, Col. Swinford operated steamboats on the Red and Assiniboine Rivers here. Later he was appointed general agent for the Northern Pacific Railway in Winnipeg. For several years he occupied the same position at Vancouver and returned to Winnipeg only six months ago.

No Fool-Proof Rule

Mushroom Hunter Must Depend On His Own Judgment

The public's desire for a fool-proof rule by which to distinguish an edible mushroom from a poisonous one is doomed to unfulfillment. Dr. Fred Seaver, curator of the New York Botanical Gardens, said in a lecture at New York.

"There is no such rule," he stated. "One must learn to know the mushrooms and to distinguish them as you would your friends from your enemies."

Dr. Seaver said that to the mycologist, or student of fungi, there was no significance in terms "toadstool" and "mushroom."

"A mushroom is an edible toadstool or a toadstool is a poisonous mushroom, whichever way one may wish to put it."

Wise and experienced mothers know when their children are troubled with worms and lose no time in applying Miller's Worm Powders. Most effective vermifuge. It is absolute in clearing the system of worms and restoring these hungry creatures without which there can be no comfort for the child, or hope of robust growth. It is a most trustworthy worm exterminator.

Wanted Many Years

Woman Graduated Over Half Century Ago Just Received Diploma

An 84-year-old woman, who, waiting 65 years for her diploma, received it at Bates College commencement. The woman was Mrs. Sibyl Chase Ballard, of Minneapolis, Minn., who completed her course at Bates in 1877, but failed to receive her degree because the college did not then confer them on women. Bates now is a co-educational institution.

Unless worms be expelled from the system, no child can be healthy. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is an excellent medicine to destroy worms.

Slightly Mixed

The president of a certain university was preaching on "Faith," and in declamatory tone told his auditory, "You have blind faith in the physician. He gives you medicine and tells you to take it. Yours not to reason why; yours to do and die!" Almost equal to this is the story of the minister who solemnly assured his congregation that "Many persons have one eye on heaven, while with the other they are listening to the gospel of the earth!"

Reduced Freight Rates

Lower Rates For Livestock In Quantities Less Than Full Carload

Reduced freight rates for the movement of livestock in quantities less than full carloads are being established by the railways, according to an announcement made by the Canadian Freight Association. Heretofore a livestock shipper has been required to ship or pay for 20,000 lbs. in the case of cattle, and 16,000 lbs. in the case of hogs and sheep in order to ship under the carload rates.

The new schedule will provide for additional rates subject to minimum weights of 12,000 lbs. and 6,000 lbs. in the case of cattle, and 11,000 lbs. and 6,000 lbs. in the case of hogs and sheep. The rates for the smaller carloads are somewhat higher than for the full cars, but they will give the shipper, who has not sufficient stock available to make up full car, an opportunity of getting the smaller quantities to the markets by rail.

The new rates will apply to market centres from points in the prairie provinces within a radius of 200 miles.

It will be permissible for cars to be stopped at one intermediate point in transit for completion of load at a charge of $3.00 per car. In making the announcement, the Canadian Freight Association stated that the new rates are in the nature of an experiment for one year.

A Prison De Luxe

New York Has Last Word In Detention Houses

New York papers gave a lot of space the other day to the opening of a new prison. It was, in fact, a considerable social event, and one Gotham reporter wrote that "the list of guests would do credit to one of society's best publicized debutantes." This, it appears, is a sort of prison de luxe. Erected on Manhattan's Welfare Island, it is to be a house of detention for women, and, judging from the description, it will never be much bothered by attempted escapes. Hot and cold water in every cell, shower baths, metal mirrors, a radio in every ward, the blessed peace sounds as palatial as one of Canada's new observation cars.

Douglas' Egyptian Liniment is a quick, certain remedy for Hot Feet or Thrush. Four or five applications are usually enough.

Consider the Dandelion

It never fails to arrive on time. Whatever its environment, it gets to the top.

Whether in a lawn or a hayfield it rears its head above all surrounding vegetation.

It does not submit to circumstances. It overcomes them.

It refuses to accept defeat. If cut down it rises again.

It thrives on difficulties.

It is not a "yellow" but a "yellow" is not the color for a quitter.

40th Anniversary Of

Salada Tea Company

Forty years ago this month in an unpretentious little building on Front Street in Montreal, the Salada Tea Company packed its first pound of tea. Founded in 1892 by the late Harkness Salada, the business progressed very rapidly and by 1895 a branch had been opened in Montreal. Two years later the United States market was invaded and an office opened in Buffalo. To-day, three of the largest and finest warehouses in the world, devoted exclusively to the packing of tea, stand as a memorial to the founder—located in Toronto, Montreal, and in Boston (the scene of the memorable tea party which precipitated the Revolutionary War).

The Canadian market was then controlled by China and Japan teas—the largest sale being China tea of poor quality. These teas were being sold from chests, exposed to air, dust, dampness, foreign odours, and so forth, all detrimental to the quality of tea. In England, which was and still is the greatest tea-drinking country in the world, Ceylon and Indian teas of fine quality had practically displaced China teas, and it occurred to Larkin that Canadians also would prefer these finer teas. He, consequently, introduced a tea of poor quality. These teas were being sold from chests, exposed to air, dust, dampness, foreign odours, and so forth, all detrimental to the quality of tea. # Disarmament Responsibility For Its Ultimate Solution Rests Primarily With the Great Powers Disarmament was a political problem and the responsibility for its solution rested primarily with the great powers, Sir George Parry, declared at Ottawa. Sir George, who headed the Canadian delegation to the Geneva disarmament conference, was addressing a joint gathering of the Ottawa branch of the League of Nations Society, the National Council of Women, the Women's Canadian Club of Ottawa, and the Canadian Club of Ottawa.

Efforts towards that end, he stated, had been initiated and carried on at Geneva by private conversations among the representatives of the nations chiefly concerned. Many things had occurred to interfere with and prevent the success of the recent deliberations. There were the elections in France; the illness of Premier Ramsay MacDonald; the necessity of United States Secretary of State Stimson returning to his country; the precarious position of the then German Chancellor Herr Brüning which had only recently resulted in his resignation. Much had been done in spite of circumstances, Sir George said in voicing his belief in the work of disarmament and the League of Nations.

A most important resolution on qualitative disarmament had been passed at the Geneva gathering by unanimous vote to the effect that any armaments which were found to be either aggressive in character or particularly dangerous to the civilian population should be removed from national control.

The technical work of the conference was still progressing, Sir George stated, and political conversations would be resumed later when it was hoped conditions would be more propitious for further progress towards the objective which all so greatly desired.

"Education and not emotionalism must be the broad, fundamental basis for the development of international good will leading to permanent peace and to disarmament," declared Miss Winifred Kydd, Montreal, president of the National Council of Women of Canada, and one of Canada's three delegates to the conference.

Miss Kydd dealt with the preliminary work of the Conference sub-committee on moral disarmament of which she was a member, having as its object an intense study of how the public opinion of all countries of the world may be mobilized in the interests of peace. The moral disarmament committee, Miss Kydd indicated, intends to utilize the press, the radio and the moving picture in its peace propaganda work.

Referring to the presentation of the polygraph petitions for world disarmament at the conference, Miss Kydd stated that the Canadian petition, bearing 500,000 names, was given a prominent place when the petitions from all countries were placed on display.

Still Ding Good Business

That the horse has not been replaced by machinery on modern farms is shown by the fact that the Canada Wood Specialty Company of St. Marys, Ontario, is now filling an order for 75,000 curry comb handles. The curry comb is used principally for cleaning horses, though quite a supply goes to fishermen. An average of about 500,000 are sold annually in Canada.

Making Final Test

Rust-Resistant Varieties Of Wheat Being Tried Out

For the purpose of considering and advising upon the solution of urgent problems of agriculture in all the major divisions of Canada—the Maritimes, Quebec and Ontario, the prairies and British Columbia—the newly formed national advisory committee on agriculture of the National Research Council met in Ottawa.

Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the council, stressed the need of co-operation and co-ordination in working out national problems.

Dr. Robert Newton, acting director of the division of biology and agriculture, recounted the enormous progress made in the last decade, through research organizations working in co-operation.

He stated that rust-resistant varieties of wheat from all the agencies which developed them have been pooled for final test. Those selected are being tried out at numerous points, and the resulting grain is to be studied by laboratories of the Dominion Department of Agriculture and the three provincial universities in the west.

The grain research committee since its inception has undertaken several major special investigations. Dr. Newton said there was now in press the final report on the investigation of the drying of grain "which should clear up all points likely to arise."

Numerous complaints regarding the effect of the combine method of harvesting on grain have resulted in the inauguration of an elaborate investigation.

Refitting Old Vessel

Clipper Ship Built In 1876 Will Sail Seas Again

The day of wooden ships and iron men has not yet gone by. The bark "Coriolanus," once "Queen of the Jute Clippers," has sailed for Bath, Me., to be fitted out in the same powerful square rig in which she established a sailing record between London and Calcutta years ago.

Refitted, the then full rigged clipper ship will sail out of Boston to again engage in trade with Africa.

She has sailed under six flags over the seven seas. Her prow has churned waters of the Arctic and the tropics and she has survived hurricanes and fire at sea to become last of the old New England clipper ships still in service.

A syndicate headed by C. Nelson Rogers of Boston recently purchased her and she will return to that port immediately after her new spars have stepped into place at the Bath Iron Works, Bath, Me. At Boston she will take on a cargo for a trading voyage to Africa.

She was built at Dumbarton, Scotland, in 1876, and was awarded a gold medal by the Honorable Shipwright's Guild of London for the most beautiful lines of any clipper ship then afloat. The "Coriolanus" established a record of 69 days between London and Calcutta and the record has never been lowered by a sailing ship.

In recent years she has engaged in the packet trade between New Bedford and the Cape Verde Islands.

Interesting Discovery

Finds Another Secret Passage In Old Palestine City

Sir Flinders Petrie, the veteran archaeologist who has unearthed so many of the secrets of the past, is still actively excavating at Old Gaza, the great city of Palestine which was well known to Abraham. The latest announcement in connection with his work is the discovery of another secret passage leading from the city into the desert. A great tunnel, leading under the walls and nearly 500 yards out into the desert, was found last year, and constitutes but one of the many features of the fortified city which military experts do not yet fully understand. Sir Flinders estimates that it will take another 50 years to excavate the area yet to be explored.

Emissaries Of Scottish Commerce Receive Splendid Reception On Their Recent Visit To Canada

When the emissaries of Scottish commerce and industry came to Canada recently, they found the opportunities for developing markets here so much more promising than was anticipated that some fifty per cent. of them extended their stay from the scheduled five days—May 16 to 21—to several weeks. Homeward bound, therefore, the Scottish Trade Mission mustered a greatly reduced personnel, some of those who remained behind having decided to traverse the Dominion to Vancouver, others, to further cultivate and solidify valuable connections made in the St. Lawrence port city.

Nor did all the exhibits so carefully selected and arranged to impress the Canadian public with the quality of Scotland's products return to the warehouses of Glasgow. A number of the exhibitors made direct sales of all the stocks they brought with them for show purposes. The representative of Mr. Robert Chapman, dog fancier, set the pace in this field, disposing of the dozen aristocratic Scotch terriers which he brought over on the first afternoon that the exhibition was open to the public.

Direct sales were of course a small factor in the success of the Trade Mission, nor did orders booked constitute the most significant feature of the venture from the point of view of Scottish commerce. The visiting traders, all keen business men trained in a hard school, were quick to realize that the Dominion held for them big opportunities for future business. They found that Canada was a potential buyer worth courting. "Scotland has found that the day of the buyer going to the seller is past and that the seller must come to the buyer," commented Mr. A. M. Wiseman, British Government Trade Commissioner at Toronto, when asked his opinion as to the most significant result of the Trade Mission visit.

But the discoveries were not all for the visitors. Canadians—not only the general public which regarded the exhibition primarily as a colourful spectacle—but hard-headed business men who visited it to weigh values both of goods and men, were convinced that Scotland produces certain commodities in higher quality than can Canadian producers, at present at least, and that these commodities all a legitimate demand in the Canadian market without unduly prejudicing native products. They heard that if they would continue to sell farm produce, raw materials and certain manufactured goods to Scotland, they should also be ready to buy those goods for the production of which the old land is particularly suited, either through natural conditions such as climate or the long experience of her craftsmen handed down from father to son for generations.

Mr. James Craig, president of Colville's Limited, a famous Scottish industrial firm, emphasized this last point in an address to Montreal businessmen gathered to welcome the mission.

"The trade between Montreal and Glasgow cannot continue a one-way trade," he stated. "All that Scotland seeks is a reciprocal trade. Canadians must realize that they have to buy in Glasgow if they would continue to sell there."

Those in charge were not merely business men, anxious to seize on any possibilities of a safe. They were representatives of the old historic Scotland, eager to tell her romantic story, to welcome those of Scottish descent, and they were legion, and give them news of home. Afternoon and evening they were besieged by men and women who sought, help in locating the tartan worn by their forefathers. They became the centres of impromptu reunions of Scotch-Canadians, many of whom allowed the highland accent to regain temporarily a dominance in their speech which it had lost long years ago.

Referring to this cordial atmosphere, a remark made by Mr. Wiseman, British Trade Commissioner at Toronto, who was sent over to Scotland to cross the ocean with the Trade Mission and was closely associated with it throughout its stay here, is significant.

"That the mission came here purely on a hard business basis it would not have met with anything like the success it attained," he commented in the course of a personal interview. "It was lifted to a higher plane by the spirit in which it set out and the spirit in which it was received here. It may be said that the spirit of Scotland was strikingly personified in the honorary president of the mission, His Grace the Duke of Montrose, whose presence contributed greatly to the splendid impression left in Canada by the Scottish Trade Mission."

Clad in kilts and sporrans and the plaid of the ancient clan of Graham and wearing, among other insignia, that of the Knights of Nova Scotia, indicating the part which his ancestors played in the colonization of Canada three centuries ago, the Duke captivated Canadian business men when the members of the mission were hosts to leading Montrealers and statesmen and trade officials from the Dominion capital. ## Norfolk Fishermen

Are Superstitious

Claim Weather-Vane Depicting Crow Brings Bad Luck

Mariners are notoriously superstitious.

The local governing council of Cromer, the agreeable little township on the Norfolk coast, is respecting the superstition of the local fishermen in regard to a weather-vane depicting a large crow which was erected recently by the council. The fishermen say the weather has been consistently bad since the vane was put up, and they have not been able to catch so many crabs and lobsters. The crow, they assert, is "a bird of ill-omen," and an emblem of death.

In deference to these representations the vane is to be taken down and a new one, depicting a ship in full sail, is to be set up.

Not Much Difference

Vegetarians Healthy But Slow in Generating Body Heat

Experiment running over two years has been concluded at Kansas City where a professor has been observing 70 vegetarians and comparing them with meat eaters. He finds that the vegetarians do not generate body heat and energy as quickly as meat eaters, placing the difference at 10 per cent. The vegetarians, he said, do not appear to be more active or intelligent than any others, nor are they more apt to become sick. Apart from generation of heat he could see little difference in the two plans of diet.

New Discovery Valuable

Makes It Possible To Evaporate Platinum Like Water

Platinum is caused to evaporate like water by a discovery announced from the California Institute of Technology. This precious vapor, probably the world's highest-priced mist, condenses into unimagined thin films upon a wide variety of materials. It coats them virtually permanently. Smoother than dew it will cover fibres, converting them into plant, slimy threads that seem made of pure platinum.

A BOON TO STOUT WOMEN—THE ADJUSTABLE SLIP

Its wrap-over front makes it show proof. There isn't anything more essential for a slender appearance than a well-fitting costume slip.

Today's model reduces the breadth of the figure and does it gracefully. There is a narrow slash that slips through a bound opening at the right hand side of the front. It is brought around the back and tied in a bow, adjusting the slip to suit its wearer. The wrap-over fronts allow plenty of freedom for the hemline, and still retains the straightness of the slip. And to make it! You'll be amazed at its simplicity. Cut it out and practically only edges to be bound after the sides and shoulder seams are closed.

Contract Bridge

By Hamlin B. Hatch, Cavendish Club, Toronto

In my last article, I discussed the Official System of Contract Bridge from the standpoint of the fundamental differences between it and the Approach-Forcing System. Today's article has to do with the so-called One-Over-One variation of both these systems. The One-Over-One has been developed by Geo. Reith of the Knickerbocker Whist Club, New York. Many of the members of the club have assisted in bringing this system to its present state of excellence. The Four Horsemen of Bridge, i.e. Hal Sims, David Burnstine, Willard Karn, and Oswald Jacoby use this system and have won many national and sectional championships. Whether their winning has been due to the One-Over-One or to the fact that all four of these men are master players, is not certain. However, it is probable that the system has helped them materially in their successes.

The salient features of the One-Over-One are as follows:—

1. The Opening Bid of One has practically the same minimum requirements as The Approach-Forcing System, with the exception that with strong distributional hands, i.e. two suiters, the bidding may be opened with less than two and one-half honor tricks. An example of this opening would be the following:—Spades: A J 9 8 7, Hearts: K Q X X X, Diamonds: X, Clubs: X X.

2nd. Provided there is no intervening bid and the partner of the opening bidder responds with a bid of one, other than one no trump, this response is definitely forcing and demands that the original bidder keeps the bidding open for at least one more round. The difference between the Approach-Forcing and the One-Over-One is, that any bid which is forcing in the Approach-Forcing System requires that the bidding be kept open until a game contract is arrived at while the One-Over-One force simply requires that the bidding be kept open for at least one more round. Example: If the opening bidder bids one diamond and second hand passes, then if the opening bidder's partner bids one heart, the original bidder must bid again. The advantages claimed for this system by its advocates is, that the partners inform each other of their respective holdings at low bids, and also that this bidding conceals from the opponents both the strength and weakness of the bidding hands. Where the hands are strong there is always the chance that the opponents will make a defensive bid and find themselves caught between the upper and nether millstones with the result that they suffer a substantial penalty.

3. The opening bid of two in a suit is based on losing tricks and not on honor tricks. In other words, a two bid is made on hands which definitely assure the partnership of game even if the partner of the two bidder has a complete "bust." The type of hands which lend themselves to this bid are usually powerful two suiters or a very powerful one suiter. Example: Spades: A Q J X X X, Hearts: A K X X X X, Diamonds: None, Clubs: X. In this hand even with a six spot high in partner's hand, game is assured, as the original bidder has only three losing tricks.

3. The opening bid of three in a suit is a definite palm signal. It is a stronger bid than the two bid and demands that the partner of the three bidder bid a suit of which he has the ace. If he has no aces, he makes the conventional response of three no trump.

Example: Spades: A K Q J X X, Hearts: K Q, Diamonds: X, Clubs: A K Q X. If after a three spade bid the response is four diamonds spades is definitely assured in spades. This is the only situation in any of the systems so far discussed where ace showing is contemplated.

4. In all other situations except those outlined above, the One-Over-One has no variations of consequence from the Approach-Forcing System. The weak no trump response is used to show a balanced one to two trick hand. All no trump bids other than jump no trump and original no trump are used to definitely measure your quick trick strength and in almost every case the no trump bid shows a minimum holding. However, in the One-Over-One, many users of the system make an opening bid of one no trump on a strong hand. If one no trump is bid and partner responds with two no trump the original bidder guarantees enough extra value to rebid to three. In other words the contract is either one no trump or three no trump. The hand, provided there is no adverse bids, is never played at two no trump. In suit bids if the opening bid is one heart and partner responds with two hearts, the original bidder either passes or bids four hearts, never three. In major suits therefore where no interference bidding occurs, the contract is either two or four. In the minors it is either two or five.

It is probable that the intelligent use of this system requires greater experience than the use of the other systems. It is certain, however, that in the acid test of keen duplicate competition, the users of this system have been extremely successful. Whether their winning is due to the system or to the fact that they are master players is, among users of other systems, a mooted question. The next article will deal with variations and their variations.

Had Original Ideas

New South Wales Bandits Out After Big Booty

These are days of mysterious accidents, peculiar robberies and dastardly crimes of all descriptions. But one could not help but smile at the news despatch from Sydney, N.S.W. There bandits stole a brick wall 30 feet long and six feet high. Others took 30 locomotives all excepting the frames, while still others carried off part of a church. This story is somewhat along the lines of one of the "travels" in the United States where high-pressure thieves will back a moving-van to a home or an apartment and if nobody stops them, take the entire furnishings on one trip.

Keeping one's possessions is not as easy as it used to be, not even as easy as in the days when might meant right.

NEURITIS HAS GONE!

Banished by Kruschen

"I had acute neuritis in the shoulder and left arm, due to exposure in bad weather," writes the Rev. H. E. T. "It was impossible to lift the arm to dress or to use it in any way, and, of course, the pain was dreadful. All external applications were useless. I got it completely normal again by keeping the parts affected warm and taking daily, early in the morning, Kruschen Salts in a tumbler of hot water. It took nearly a month, but every vestige of neuritis has gone."

Neuritis is typical of a dozen other complaints—some minor, some very serious—which all result from impurities in the blood. And it is impure blood, circulating all over the system and setting up inflammation in the tissues, that causes these excruciating pains.

Kruschen Salts can be safely trusted to set the matter right. Because Kruschen contains just what Nature needs to persuade your internal organs back into a healthy, normal condition.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JUNE 26

FAVORITE CHARACTERS IN GENESIS

Golden Text: "We know that to them all things work together for good, even to them that are called according to His purpose." Romans 8:28.

Devotional Reading: Hebrews 11:4-22.

Lessons From the Life of Abraham. The importance of Abraham is evidenced not only by the number of chapters in Genesis devoted to his life but also by the many references to him and his faith, both in the Old Testament and the New. Faith was the outstanding trait of Abraham. He was the first, and we know that to see life as a venture with a purpose. He knew God and communed with Him, and the result was that "His Friend of God."

"Jehovah appeared to Abram, and said unto him, I am God Almighty." In the story of Abraham we see the belief in one God displace the universal belief of his time in many gods. In the words of Basil King: "To Abraham the new understanding came as a great marvel, with Christ who is Almighty anything was possible. It was more than a conviction, more than an enthusiasm; it became a burning and consuming faith which he could test to its extremity. He could trust it to the uttermost."

"To Abraham message followed message, as great perceptions broadened into greater ones. He learned that gain on his own personal account was but gain for the world at large. He was the first altruist we know anything about, the first to whom the good of his fellow-men was as dear as his own good. Good for himself could only be good in proportion as they, far into the future, should share it. Because he obeyed the Voice, not only he but others were to benefit. That a single right act is an universal asset, in which, to its degree, all the nations of the earth might be blessed, was one of his great discoveries."

In Search Of Treasure

British Adventurers Locate Susken Spanish Galleon In Southern Sea

A band of British adventurers who are seeking Spanish treasure made contact, recently, with a galleon on the bed of Chaguanarum Bay, Trinidad, which, they hoped was crammed with gold ingots and precious jewels.

The operations have been directed by a "divining spring" owned by Frank Cooper, one of the leaders of the group, who crossed the Atlantic recently in the "Vigilant," a tiny vessel, in the hope of making a great fortune.

It was reported that as the "Vigilant" was circling over the bay, the "divining spring," led in Cooper's clenched hands, leaped from his grasp.

Chaguanarum Bay has long been looked upon as a place where treasure might be found. It was there that the Spanish were defeated by the British in a decisive naval engagement near the end of the eighteenth century. The legend is that the Spanish fleet contained one vessel loaded to the rails with gold and gems.

FOREST FIRES CAUSE HEAVY LOSS IN ONTARIO

Port Arthur, Ont.—The number of men fighting fires in the Thunder Bay area has now reached 700, equal to the largest number employed last year.

Blazes at Whitefish Lake and Obonga Lake are requiring extra care, officials said, and 50 additional men have been sent to Sunday Creek to cope with the rapid spread of fire in that district.

The largest fire in the area is about 30 miles north of Graham, but although it covers about 50 miles of territory, it is not the most destructive being mostly in young growth.

To fight fires at Whitefish, Obonga and Dog Lakes, and at Gull River, all men and equipment must be taken in by plane.

Fires to the northwest of Dog Lake, about 20 miles from Port Arthur, destroyed a group of camps of the Pigeon Timber Company valued at $6,000. A dam which had cost $6,000 and about 10,000 feet of lumber also fell prey to the flames.

Joseph Marrieff, 55, and Con Mahoney, 22, two members of a fire-fighting brigade, lost their lives in Ontario Lake when a canoe in which they were riding overturned.

Sudbury, Ont.—Valuable timber is believed to be endangered by a bush fire which was ravaging some 3,000 acres of bush land near Gogama, north of here, according to word reaching Ontario forestry officials. The blaze is being fought by 200 men. One casualty was reported. Paul Natatka was injured and badly burned when struck by a falling tree.

Burial Of Violet Sharpe

Englewood, N.J.—Violet Sharpe, English servant girl in the home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, was buried after a brief service attended by fellow members of the Morrow household and the acting British consul-general who has been instructed to make a report on the girl's suicide five days ago.

The simple cloth-covered casket was borne to a grave in Brookside cemetery, where rests the body of the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow, grandfather of the murdered Lindbergh baby, on the shoulders of four male employees.

No member of the Morrow or Lindbergh family attended the final rites, although they were represented by Arthur Springer, the late senator's private secretary, and Mrs. Josephine D. Graham, Mrs. Morrow's private secretary.

Decision Rests With Immigration Minister

Alleged Communists Have No Further Recourse To Higher Courts

Halifax, N.S.—Fate of the group of alleged Communists, who have been detained in Halifax for some weeks while their efforts to evade deportation were before the courts, now rests solely in the hands of the minister of immigration, Hon. Wesley A. Gordon. It was stated by L. A. Ryan, counsel for the group, that there was no further recourse to higher courts as the decision of the full bench of the supreme court of Nova Scotia had been unanimous.

Detroit.—Canadians from all parts of the Dominion arriving here for the 16th annual convention of Kiwanis International are prepared for four days of problems pertaining to unemployment aid, urban-rural relations, child welfare, adult education, and civic betterment.

Kiwanis was founded in Detroit on January 21, 1915, and the thousands of Kiwanians from all parts of Canada and the U.S. crowding into the city consider the occasion a pilgrimage back to the birthplace of the service organization. "We are justified in our faith in the future of Kiwanis," declared William O. Harris, of Los Angeles, International president, in his annual message. "We can be proud of our past accomplishments, and our present opportunity lies in the willingness to serve in the social and economic problems that we face today."

The Canadian delegations are in charge of three-district governors: Charles A. Fowler, of Halifax, N.S., Ontario-Quebec-Maritime district; Dr. James P. Whyte, of Swift Current, Sask., Western Canada district; and Clinton S. Harley, of Seattle, Pacific-Northwest district.

Two International officers, Andrew G. Gaul, of Hamilton, Ont., vice-president, and Dr. Charles C. Tatham, of Edmonton, trustee, will take leading parts in the convention.

Over 1,800 Kiwanis clubs across Canada and the U.S. will meet simultaneously. This united fellowship occasion will bring together over 89,000 men for an expression of gratitude for the community betterment and welfare work of Kiwanis during the past year.

All Kiwanis clubs in Canada are observing Canadian citizenship week, June 26 to July 2, with patriotic progress. The observance is being directed by the Kiwanis International committee on public affairs for Canada. H. Stanley Higgins, of Ottawa, is chairman, and Nelson A. Harkness, Vancouver, and Richard W. Moore, Saskatoon, members of the committee.

British Immigration

Question Has Not Yet Come Up For Discussion At Inter-Provincial Conference

Edmonton, Alberta.—Commenting on Senator A. D. McRae's suggestion as reported from Winnipeg, to the effect that the question of British immigration to western Canada be considered at the forthcoming inter-provincial conference in Regina, Premier J. E. Brownlee says that he has not had a communication from any source in regard to the matter, and he presumes that if the Dominion government were proposing to put it on the programme for the imperial economic conference advice to the provincial governments would have been given accordingly.

If occasion arises, however, the Alberta Government will be prepared to express its views on such immigration, says Mr. Brownlee.

Bloodless Sea Fight

British Run Runner and U.S. Cutter In Engagement

Halifax.—Tales of an old-fashioned sea scrap, in which the crews of a British run-runner and a United States cutter battered each other with potatoes, turnips, paint pots and molasses jugs about 70 miles off New York, were told here after the motorships "Ganeff" and "Mary F. Ruth" limped into harbour.

Masters of both vessels claimed they had been rammed by the cutter "Daphne," the "Mary F. Ruth" on Friday, and the "Ganeff" on Sunday. The "Ganeff" had a large hole in her stern.

The Grove's Ball Team

Onoway's ball team played the Grove team on the latter's diamond Sunday afternoon, and it proved to be "some game." Mr Tom Johnson, the well-known ball player, was the referee, nominally, but when he gave a decision that didn't suit the visitors, the latter objected in a manner quite noticeable: so much so as to have the visiting team walk off the diamond three different times, to back up their protests. Herman Loeblich pitched an inning and then resigned from the job. The visitors succeeded in getting 8 runs to the Groves' 6 runs. A very acrimonious gabfest intervened all through the playing, which The Inke said reminded him of War times.

Rheumatism So Bad He Had to Quit Work

Albert Berger Not Bothered Since
Relieved by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Working
Every Day
Now.

"I was terribly bothered with a weak back and rheumatism in my shoulders," writes Albert Berger, Winkle, Ont. "It got so bad I had to stop working and stay in the house. I was two weeks in bed, when a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I gave the Pills a fair trial, and they relieved me right away. My back is good and strong now, and I am working every day. I have never been bothered with rheumatism since. I recommend them for anyone suffering from Rheumatism, Lame Back, Sciatica, Rheumatism and kindred ailments thin the blood very rapidly. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich the blood stream and create new red blood cells, which is the reason they are so successful in combating such ailments. Equally good for all rundown or nervously exhausted people. Try them. At your druggist's. 50c. 2/3

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

"Then, to please me—for nothing else in the world, if you like, but because I ask it—will you let things stay as they are for a few weeks longer? Just that little while, Nick? We're going to London next week. That'll make a break—bring us all back to a calmer, more everyday outlook on things. Will you wait? Sir Adrian may never strike Claire again. And it wouldn't be fair—just now, at a time when she is feeling horribly bitter and humiliated from that—that insult—to ask her to go away with you. Give her a fair chance to decide a big question like that when things are at their normal level—not when they are worse than usual. To ask her now would be to take advantage of the feeling she must have, just at this moment, that her life is unbearable. It wouldn't be playing the game."

He made no answer, and Jean waited with increasing trepidation. She was sure now that she could hear footsteps. Someone had mounted the stairs and was coming along the corridor towards her room.

"Nick!" The low, agitated whisper burst from her as the steps halted outside the door. "Promiscue men!"

It seemed an eternity before he answered.

"Very well. I promise. You've won for the moment—'Saint Jean'!"

He smiled at her, rather sadly. Before she could reply, Blaise's voice sounded outside the door, asking if he might come in, and with a feeling of intense relief that the battle was won for the moment, Jean gave the required permission. As his brother entered the room, Nick quitted it, brushing past him abruptly.

Tormarin's eyes questioned Jean's. "We have been discussing Sir Adrian," she explained, as the door closed behind Nick. "And—Claire."

He nodded comprehendingly. "Poor old Nick!" he said. "It's damned rough on him. Latimer ought to be carefully and quietly chloroformed out of the way. He's as much a menace to society as a mad dog."

Jean sighed. "I'm afraid they're very unhappy—Nick and Claire."

"I wonder Claire doesn't chuck her husband," said Blaise. "And take whatever of happiness she can get out of the world."

Jean shook her head. "You know you don't mean that. You don't really believe in snatching happiness—at all costs."

"I'd let precious little stand in the way. If I were Nick I think I should do it."

"But being you?"

Jean did not know what unaccountable impulse induced her to give a personal and individual twist to what had been developing almost into an academic discussion. Perhaps it was the familiar, unstudied longing to hear Blaise himself define the thing which kept them apart—even though, since Lady Anne's disclosure, she could guess only too well what it was. Or perhaps it was the faint, tormenting hope that one day his determination would weaken and his love sweep away all barriers.

He looked at contemplatively.

"Sometimes the past makes claims upon a man which forbid him to snatch at happiness. I don't believe in any man's shirking his just punishment for the evil he has done. What he has brought on himself, he must bear. But Nick and Claire have had no part in bringing about their own tragedy. They are just the sport of chance—at an ill fate. They are morally free to take their happiness in any way in which it will come to them. I would like to see him free to take mine, as long as I live." He regarded her steadily.

"There are certain things for which I have proved myself unfitted—with which it is evident I am not to be trusted. And one of those is the safeguarding of any woman's happiness."

Jean felt her throat contract. It would always be the same, then! The long tentacles of the past would reach out eternally into the future. The woman who had been his wife—the woman who had destroyed herself, and in so doing, had a million times, if remorse about his neck—would stand forever at the gateway of the garden of happiness, her dead lips silently denying him—and, with him, the woman who loved him—the right to enter.

With an effort Jean answered that part of his speech which had reference only to Claire and Nick.

"There are other ways, though, in which they have no moral right," I grant that Claire was persuaded, almost driven into marrying Sir Adrian by her parents; but, after all, we each have our individual free will. She could have refused to obey them. Or, if she felt there were reasons why she must marry him—the material advantage to her parents, and so on, why, she ought to have reckoned the cost. I don't mean to be hard, Blaise."

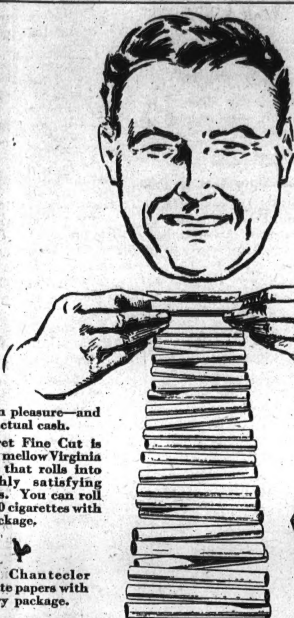

She broke off wistfully.

"You—hard!" He laughed a little, as though amused.

"Only one way must try to be fair all round—to look at things straight."

She leaned her chin on her palm and her eyes grew thoughtful. "I don't know, but it seems to me that we weren't meant to run away from things—hard things. If a man and a woman marry, they must accept their responsibilities—not evade them."

So absorbed was she in her trend of thought that she never realized how directly this speech must strike at Blaise himself. His face changed slightly.

"You're right, of course," he said abruptly. "You—generally are. And if all women were like you, it would be easy enough."

His eyes dwelt with curious intensity on the pure outline of her face, on the parted, tenderly curved lips, and the golden eyes with their momentary touch of the idealist and the dreamer.

It seemed as if the quiet intensity of his regard drew her, for slowly she turned her head and met his gaze, flushing suddenly and faltering under the consciousness of him, of his nearness, swept her from head to foot, and it seemed to her as though now, in this moment, they were in closer touch, nearer understanding, than they had ever been.

The dreamer and idealist vanished and it was all at once just sheer woman, passionate and wistful and tremulous, and infinitely alluring; that looked at him out of the golden eyes.

With a stifled exclamation he caught her hands in his.

"Beloved—"

And the whole of a man's forbidden, thwarted love vibrated in the word as he spoke it.

Then he bent his head, and for a moment his lips were against her soft palms.

She stood very still and quiet when he had gone, realizing in every quivering nerve of her that whatsoever the future might bring—even though Blaise might choose to shut himself away from her again as in the past and the dividing wall between them rise as high as heaven—she knew now, without a shadow of doubt or questioning, that he loved her.

In the burning utterance of a single word, in the pressure of passionate, renouncing lips, the assurance had been given, and nothing could ever take it away again.

She spread her hands, palms upward, and looked at them curiously.

CHAPTER XXIV.

An Unexpected Meeting

"Have you been very bored, Nick?" The week in London had nearly run its course, and Lady Anne's eyes begged charmingly for a negative. Nick accorded it with a smile.

"I'm never bored with you, madonna; you know that," he said. "And hotel life is always more or less amusing. One comes across such queer types. There's one here this evening has been intriguing me enormously. At a little table by herself—do you see her? A tall, rather gorgeous-looking being—kind of cross between the Queen of Sheba and Lucrèce Borgia."

Lady Anne threw a veiled glance in the direction indicated.

"Yes, she's a very handsome woman, obviously not 'English.' Her eyes travelled on towards the door. 'I wish Blaise and Jean would hurry up,' she added impatiently. 'They're taking an unconscionable time to dress.'"

The two latter had come in late from a sight-seeing expedition undertaken on Jean's behalf, and had only returned to the hotel just as Lady Anne and Nick were preparing to make their way in to dinner.

"For such a deliberate matchmaker, you're a lot too impatient, madonna," commented Nick, teasingly. "That they should have stayed out together until the very last moment ought to have pleased you immensely."

Trying Out New Plan

Celery To Be Cultivated In Canada For Bermuda Growers

A plan to cultivate celery in Canada between June and October, transplant it in Bermuda and harvest it for export to Canada in February, has been made known by W. R. Evans, marketing adviser to the Bermuda Department of Agriculture. It is understood that an expert is coming to Montreal to plant the first seeds.

The scheme would advance the opening of celery shipment from Bermuda to Canada by two or three months.

No School Sports at Beach.

In view of the present times and conditions, and of the large expense involved, we, the undersigned, Trustees of the Barrie Shield, do not think it fair to expect Mr J Barrie, of Edmonton Beach, to carry on this year with the annual school sports.

Therefore, as Trustees of the Barrie Shield, we hereby notify all concerned that the School Sports will be cancelled for this year.

A Farewell Sermon.

Rev G A Sauder preaches his farewell sermon at the Holborn appointment Sunday afternoon next; and bids farewell to his Stony Plain congregation at the evening service. At the service at Bright Bank on Sunday last he bade adieu to the members of his congregation at that point.

At the close of his ministry work here, Rev Sauder leaves for Naco, to take up the church work there.

Edmonton Beach.

A big gala picnic is to be held at Edmonton Beach next Sunday June 26 which promises to be the big celebration of the season. A combination of all the theatres of Edmonton are to be on hand for this event.

Swimming races, boat races and land sports are to be the rule of the day, climaxed by an open air performance around a huge bonfire.

This will be something new in the way of entertainment. The management of the Beach is straining every effort to make this a big success; and we are sure it will go over in the usual Jack Barry way. The surrounding districts are cordially invited to this celebration.

The Wheat Bonus.

At the conference, this week, at Regina, of the Premiers of the Western provinces, Premier Brownlee urged that a united effort of the Premiers of the western provinces be made to secure from the Dominion government a continuance of the five cent bonus on wheat for another year.

Knockers.

There are knockers everywhere. It is easy to be one: it requires no brains: any fool, dull, ignorant, uneducated, uneducated person can open his mouth and bray.

A wise person is he who knows how to keep his mouth shut: a fish gets caught because he opens his mouth.

See Mecklenburg about your glasses; in spite of the knockers, he gets the business, for his patrons know he is square, conscientious, fair. At Royal Hotel, Mon, July 18.

Why Not Alberta?

When a new Highways Act was passed by the Manitoba Legislature two years ago it incorporated the provision that a red reflector at least 3 3-16" in diameter, and visible at a distance of 200 ft., should be permanently attached to the rear of every horse-drawn vehicle, trailer or other conveyance using the highways at night not equipped with a regulation tail light.

Buy Genuine Parts.

The plight of the Toronto motorist who had an engine overhaul and then proceeded on a tour, only to be forced to have gaskets replaced before he had gone 40 miles, helps to drive home the value of the advice to patronise the garage that handles genuine parts for your car. The motorist in question had his repair job done at a "handy" shop, and did not believe any repair man would be so foolish as to try to fit one car with gaskets from another. Patronise a garage which handles only genuine parts. It pays.

PUBLIC PREFERENCE IS THE BEST PROOF OF VALUE

MORE people are buying CHEVROLET SIXES than ANY other car ~ ~ ~

because Chevrolet gives more for the money

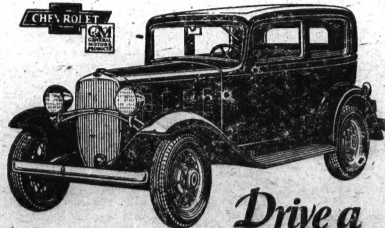

The new Chevrolet became Canada's largest selling automobile because it offered the public outstanding value in a low priced car. Today, Chevrolet is maintaining its lead in sales—because, with prices reduced and quality unchanged, Chevrolet has increased its lead in value. For the first four months of 1932, Chevrolet has outsold the next leading car more than two-to-one.

Drive a Chevrolet—how much more it offers than you can find elsewhere in the lowest price field. Smarter styling—Chevrolet emulates the modern lines and modish fittings of expensive custom cars. Finer coachwork—for Chevrolet, alone in its field, has bodies by Fisher, with their lasting, quiet hardwood-and-steel construction. More advanced features—because of Chevrolet's Free Wheeling, silent Synchro-Mesh gear shifting and many other up-to-date advantages. A more economical engine—because with its built-in smoothness, its speed and acceleration, the Chevrolet six-cylinder power plant costs less to operate than any other automobile engine of comparable size and power. A more thoroughly proved product—because no other 1932 motor car is backed by the satisfactory road-experience of so many thousands of owners.

A Greater Value than Ever—because you can enjoy all these advantages today in any of thirteen big, quality models—at reduced prices—and on small payments spread over a period of months.
